

Lived Realities of Mayan Culture

Leveraging Gender Equality and Social Change through Education

March 30, 2011 6 pm
Hartwell Dance Theater

Randall Shea

Randall Shea '84 is a Brockport alumnus who graduated with a double major in Business and French. After working for Campbell's Soup for many years, he became involved in human rights advocacy, coordinating 15 delegations of US citizens to Nicaragua, Southern Mexico and Guatemala and documenting human rights abuses in Nicaragua.

In 1995, he became Program Coordinator of Santa María Tzejá Middle School, a small Guatemalan village located in the northwestern part of the country that in 1982 was brutally attacked by the Guatemalan army, forcing members of the community to find refuge in Mexico. Since 2008, Mr. Shea has been working to build and operate a high school and university extension in the village.

Sponsored by the American Democracy Project (ADP) and the Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures

Free and open to the public.
For additional information, visit the ADP Web site
www.brockport.edu/adp/pdss.html

The College at
BROCKPORT
STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK

