SUBJECT: Revisions of the Political Science major/minor

The Political Science Department forwards for Senate consideration the attached revision of its major/minor. Please note that the old requirements have been included for your convenience.

Our main concerns in "tightening" the major are to ensure that our students are exposed to the foundation courses in each of the four sub-fields of the discipline (American Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Theory, and International Relations), to require training in methodology (Political Statistics and Political Analysis), and to require exposure to upper division work in three of the four subfields. In part, this represents an effort to move many of our students away from their natural tendency to concentrate on American Politics and Public Law, while paying little attention to the methodological, philosophical, and non-American concerns of the discipline.

As a result of these revisions, the total hours required for completion of the major have been increased from 30 to 36.

If it is necessary, I will be happy to meet with the Committee at its convenience.

Robert S. Getz

Proposed Political Science Major
(to become effective on 9/1/80)

1. Required Courses

   PLS 111 World Politics  3 hours
   PLS 112 Comparative Politics  3 hours
   PLS 113 American Political Systems  3 hours
   PLS 203 Modern Political Thought  3 hours
   PLS 300 Political Statistics  3 hours
   PLS 301 Approach to Political Analysis  3 hours
   18 hours

*PLS 300 utilizes SOC 200 plus an additional one hour devoted to political applications.

(Old major required the student to choose two courses from PLS 111, 112, and 113, and one from PLS 201 and 203 for a total of 9 hours.)

2. Additional Hours

   Majors will take an additional 18 hours of PLS courses, at least 12 of which must be upper-division (300-400) level courses.

   (Old requirement read 21 additional hours, 12 of which must be at the upper-division level.)

3. Distribution Requirement

   Majors must take at least one 300 or 400 level course in three of the four subdisciplines, which are defined as American Politics, Comparative Politics, International Relations, and Political Theory (normative and/or empirical).

   (No distribution requirement under old major.)

   In addition to the requirements, Political Science majors will be urged to take ECN 201, Principles of Macroeconomics. The Student Handbook and Faculty Advisors will recommend:

   1. An intern experience.
   2. A semester abroad.
   3. Improvement of oral communication skills by taking a speech course such as SPM 211, Argument and Public Controversy.
   4. Improvement of written communication skills by taking ENL 305, Advanced Composition.
   5. Improvement of reasoning ability by taking PHL 202, Logic, or PHL 204, Practical Thinking (informal logic), or CSC 301, Introduction to Computer Programming.
   6. A computer use course, to include such topics as putting data into machine readable form, basic data manipulations on the computer, data interpretation and use of social science canned computer packages.
In addition to these general recommendations...

The faculty of some of the sub-disciplines recommend specialized packages for students with specific career interests. These specialized packages are described in the Political Science Student Handbook.

4. Minor

The minor requires completion of two of the four required 100 and 200 level courses, and any one of the required 300 level courses.

A student must also take an additional nine hours of upper division work.
